The classification of 99 Shalamar Drive as part of the Clean Air Zone	We live on a 4.05 ha property in Rossmore Valley which is a rural zoned area. Our odd shaped property is zoned so as NOT to permit any building other than our house which is at the front of the property. We are 1 km from the urban belt to the North and to the South there are 3 houses (2 on 109 1 on 110) all outside the zone. The 2 on 109 are between 50 - 100 m from our place. *	Exclusion of 99 Shalamar Drive from the Clean Air Zone.

Add further pages as required.

* They have log burners! We have just had our log burner fixed from earthquake damage. We have 2 65 year olds and 1 97 year old living on site. We have power cuts at least once a year. The worse was 2 days ago and lasted 8 days. It seems quite illogical to include our property when we live in an isolated rural location and we have the right or inclination to subdivide (way too steep anyway!)
