With the increase of traffic due to people relocating from the city, particularly in the Selwyn District, it is becoming increasingly hazardous to exercise our horses on the roadside. In fact, every time I do get my nerve up and venture out, I could give examples of complete disregard of the road code when it comes to passing us safely.

There are lots of parks and places where cyclists and walkers can go, but none at all for horses in the Selwyn District.

What do you want Environment Canterbury to do?

If it could be done, to create a horse park such as Baynons Brake or Bottle Lake in Selwyn. These are incredible facilities, but take a long time to get to from this region.

I feel that this could be an incredible opportunity to create something for the future, and make riding safe for everyone.

I do use the forest park between Weedons Ross Road and Miners Bank Road, and feel that without too much effort, this could be made into the perfect riding area.
