What do you want Environment Canterbury to do?

Given the scale of proposed irrigation & central govt's virtual subsidy for such schemes, E.C.'s role in the management of land use, etc. becomes more important as does the monitoring of use and the compliance requirements. E.C.'s role should be to lead opinion and not to wait "till the community tells us to act".

Harness the expertise widely available, e.g. Lincoln Univ, to promote diversification of land use, esp. for areas newly irrigated.

Avoid the assumption that increased dairying is the best option in the long term and actively encourage alternative food production.
