I am totally opposed to the banning of fireplaces. I am also opposed to the banning of controlled burn offs. What's next? Banning of camping? Banning off barbeques? Where does this end? I am getting sick and tired of hearing of your bizarre plans that do not work with us farmers or anyone else for that matter, the only one that benefit from this is your bank account and your staff's paychecks. Corruption seeping through your so-called 'plans'.. I welcome you to come to our property and see how the hell we are meant to operate without burn offs!

Now please get real and start focusing on creating more environmentally friendly fireplaces (which shock horror is already available). I doubt you can cook on heat pumps during a power outage. I also doubt you can keep warm with a heat pump during a power outage. I feel for the elderly who cant keep warm when such outages happens. I wish you can stop banning everything. If you want to ban something, ban Ecan (ECON).

Kind regards

Therese Berg

What do you want Environment
Canterbury to do?

Stop banning fireplaces and stop banning controlled burn offs! if you want to ban something, start with your own organisation.
