Good evening

Thank you for taking the time to review my submission.

Water is a touchy subject and so is foreign ownership of it.

I propose that a bylaw be created that makes it that only New Zealand Citizens can take water for the purpose of bottling (any form of water for public sale) and further sale.

If nobody owns the water then how can someone take it and sell it? I propose this for all consents going forward.

I would like to see the overseas country that will willingly allow one of their best and natural resources to be gathered up and sold for profit and essentially for free.

I am not allowed to take gold or oil from the ground, why water?

Further, push for a 10-15 cent tax to be added to each and every litre taken. If the public still want to buy the increased price of each bottle then fine.

Thank you for your time.
