I have a family member that has cerebral palsy and uses the 107 regularly to get to and from work. She works full time but does not drive and if she was to walk to work it would take her an hour which is not feasible in winter. She also uses the 108 as this allows her to connect with other buses and to be independent and travel all over the city. If these buses were to be cut this would limit her independence significantly. I would suggest that the buses are a public service so perhaps rather than cutting the bus routes completely you could consider reducing the frequency and not having them running as late into the evening as for many people with disabilities and the elderly not having this option available for them would have huge ramifications on their daily living.

Thank you.
