There are no other options for public transport available to the elderly or disabled persons who cannot, for whatever reason, drive. For many Rapaki, Cass Bay, and Corsair Bay residents the walk to Lyttelton, which would be the closest bus service, would be impossible. This would result in complete isolation for these people who are probably ratepayers. This proposed cancellation indicates a complete disregard by the council for the elderly and disabled who rely so heavily on this service. In this instance running at a loss would be the humane option. |
