Hi Team,

I am a Christchurch resident living on a property in Tai Tapu that is bordered by the Halswell River & a local stream.

My vote as a Christchurch ratepayer to elect representatives on ECan with should count just as much as that of an irrigator in the Mackenzie Basin.

We are keenly interested in water conservation & cleaning up the rivers of Canterbury.

Therefore it is only fair & democratic that our vote has the same value as say an irrigating farmer in South Canterbury, particularly with intensive irrigation being proposed in the McKenzie country.

I totally object to representation structure proposed would mean that the vote of people in Central Christchurch will count for 40% less than the votes of people in South Canterbury.

That is not democracy.

Yours, Cosmo Jeffery
