I object to the increase in swing mooring fees. I do not think sufficient information has been given as to the administration charges. For a relatively small number of moorings the cost of an office and administrator is excessive and far out of line with any competitive business model, of which I am aware. Ecan as a rating based authority has a duty to operate efficiently. I require a further breakdown of the administration costs before being satisfied with any increase. I accept the wages/salary of Emma and the harbour master but the overheads in excess of $100,000, indicate inefficiency and excess. Would it be more cost efficient to subcontract the admin aspect out to a private operator? Please let me have further details.
