Reasons comment:

The ocean has been polluted and is being polluted by toxins from a range of sources; nuclear waste, plastic pollution, sewage or waste water. It is time to put a stop to this. By allowing this waste water pipeline to go ahead, it will mean more pollution and degradation of water quality, as well as harming the marine life, including endangered species such as the Hoiho, Kororaa and Hector's dolphin. This water would become polluted and would not be a safe place to swim for us therefore would not be safe for any marine animals. My final reason is that polluting the ocean like this is very disrespectful to Maori, whose land we are living on. The ocean is not just a bunch of water for our benefit, it is a sacred source of life under the guardianship of the Atua Maori, (Maori Gods) Tangaroa and Hinemoana.
