Reasons comment:

It's almost inconceivable that a company could be making such an application in the present day. Does this company have a plan to transition to net zero by 2050 including the use of their products? The CEO of Bathurst called coal a "transition fuel" on the radio last year. I don't think even any US coal barons have used that term before. Unbelievable. Leave the coal in the hole. This is how emissions happen. Reject the application.
