Reasons comment:

It's absolutely despicable that with the knowledge we have and the experience we've all now been party to of having cleaner air and clearer skies for a month due to lower pollution from lockdown, that any person or company persons can even have the right to apply to add to the destruction of our land, plants, animal life, biodiversity, water systems, air quality and much more, all in the name of profit. Coal is an outdated practice that needs to end, and must be replaced with environmentally sustainable methods to support the economy instead. ECAN in all their wisdom will know and understand this, and I deeply hope you are able to make the decision that is best for peoples health, animal and insect health, and the plant life that supports us in cleaning the air and water systems, and that ECAN can override any human desires to place profits before good ethic and and a good quality of life for our grandchildren, their grandchildren, and so forth.
