Reasons comment:

1 Climate change - is a crisis is far larger than our current Covid 19 health crisis yet because we don't see the resultant bodies being buried, the world is not acting with the same urgency as for Covid. Yet the damage from climate change affects every living thing and every ecosystem and it will soon become unstoppable. We have a small window still remaining to curb its development and all intelligent life must take advantage of that opportunity. We must stop burning coal which is a major contributor to climate change and we have other options available to us. No business should be able to conduct itself in a manner that is life threatening to the society in which it operates. 2. Most of the coal from this mine fuels another unsustainable industry ie intensive dairy farming. This system is also on notice from all branches of science and society and needs to and will change. They also have other sustainable models which are not predicated on the destruction of common goods like air, soil, water and biodiversity.

Consent comment:
