Reasons comment:

Due to the state of the planet and the current global warming trajectory, I do not think that we should be increasing the amount of fossil fuels available to be burned. Coal is a particularly dirty fuel which adds to air pollution in a way that both affects our local people of New Zealand, and really the state of the globe as a whole. Additionally, expanding the mine will have negative impacts on native species, both flora and fauna.

Consent comment:

Do not grant any of the consents. This mine should not expand and therefore conditions will not help.
