I want more polluter pays. For example I get junk mail from Metropol that goes straight in my bin despite my no junk mail sign. I think all goods sellers should pay toward waste disposal based on waste created. For example food in plastic attracts fees for the plastic disposal, making no waste/low waste options more attractive to sellers. Any business that isn't able to be clean and profitable isn't worth operating.

Climate Change and Community Resilience portfolio comments:

Please add real economic incentives to reduce CO2 emissions, principle of polluter pays implies a carbon tax large enough to change behaviour.

Air Quality, Transport and Urban Development portfolio comments:

I note that particulate pollution from coal, diesel and petrol is estimated to kill 500,000 people annually in Europe. Heroin overdose kills less than 10,000 people annually in Europe. Please bring in real polluter pays taxes for those who consume coal, diesel, gas and petrol. I want clean air
