balanced option for rate payers and users

Any other comments on bus fares?

I can see option 1 may increase public transport use by young folk and lead to a long term culture change. that is positive, but I am mindful there are increasing costs on parents and householders, and there is a notable rates levy lift with option 1

Is borrowing and repaying through general rates the right approach for this regionally significant event?

Don't know

central fund, this is a government issue and prioritisation across the country is required.
