I see empty buses on most days - paid by the taxpayers? Perhaps this should be looked at

Is borrowing and repaying through general rates the right approach for this regionally significant event?

No

How else might we pay for our share of this work?

Ratepayers could find a portion but reading infrastructure should consider the business users as well as a emergency fund similar to EQC set to to be split across all NZ and underwritten / reinsured by appropriate companies

How do you think recovery from flooding of this scale – events that impact state highways, bridges, rail and power for example – should be funded in the future?

As previous answer

I don't have a preference

No

Would you support a levy to accelerate action in response to climate change?

No

Any other comments on future funding for responding to climate change?

Current scientific Research on climate change does not support theories that CO₂ is the major cause of climate change. research with the blinkers off will reveal it is more complex, is cyclical and the narrative driving the CO₂ human entirely responsible reasoning is driven by an agenda. Research the relationship of geo and astrophysical relationships. You will be enlightened. Keeping environment clean I'd support but not the drive to create another tax. Follow the money all the way to see who really benefits!
